Using your music device with a Bluetooth speaker

Using your music device with a bluetooth speaker

Compatible Spectrio devices will have a device LID# that starts with 101. This is labeled on the device.

To use a bluetooth speaker, instead of any installed speaker system and amplifier, you will need to change the settings on the device to use with a bluetooth speaker. This requires you to connect the device to a monitor, using an HDMI cable.

Please note: Your bluetooth speaker must be close enough to your music device for signal strength.

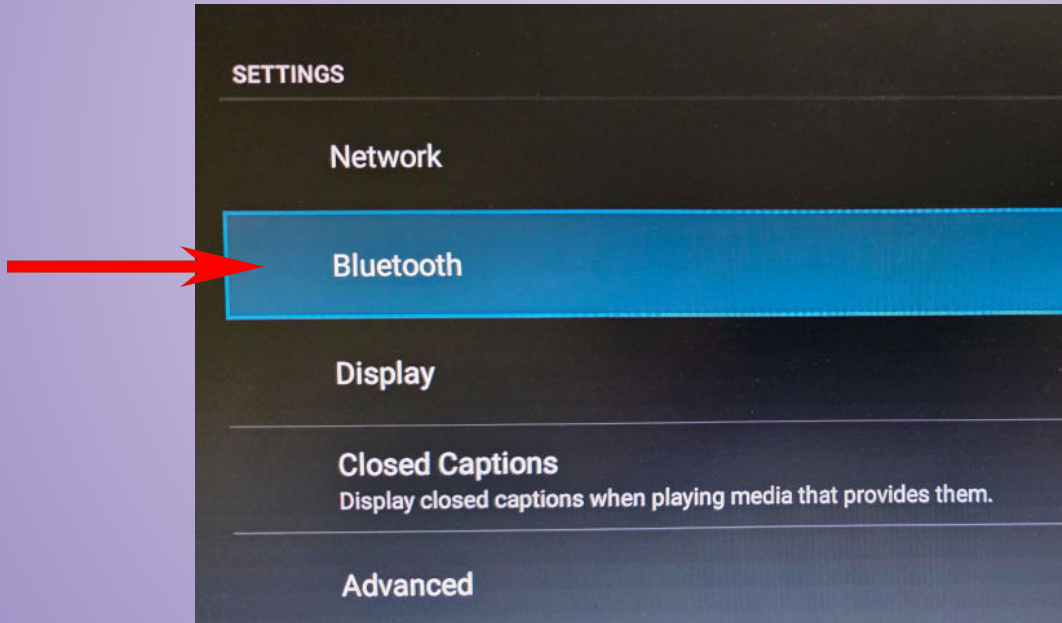

Use remote to change the settings

Once you have the Spectrio music device connected to a monitor via HDMI cable, use the remote to navigate through the settings. Using the up & down arrows, and the OK button.

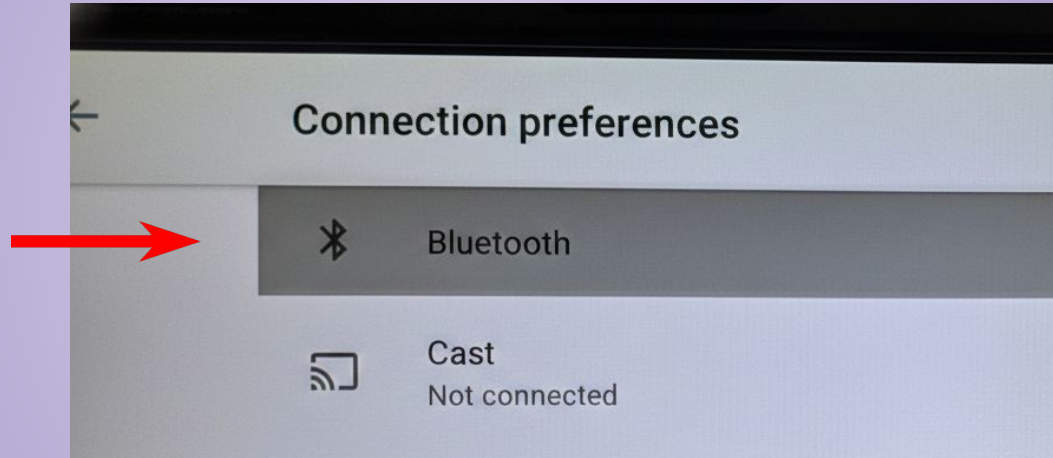

Settings screen

Once connected via HDMI cable, you will see this settings screen. Using your remote, select Bluetooth.

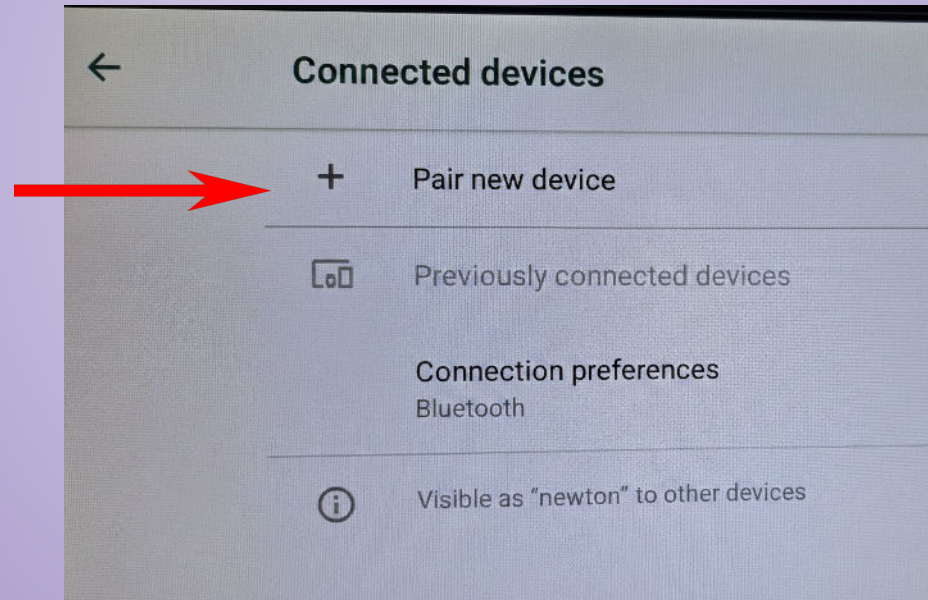

Connection preferences

Using your remote, select Bluetooth

Pairing your device

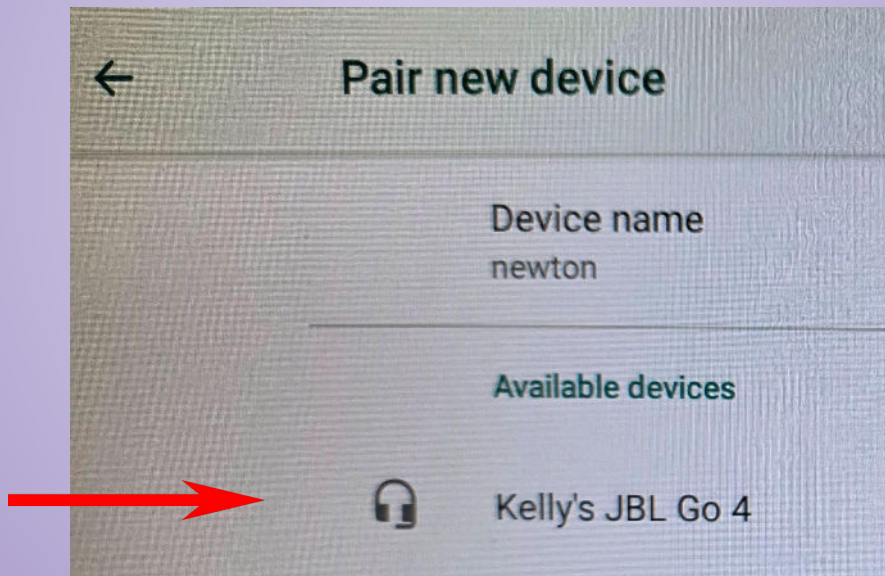

Using your remote, select Pair new device. The screen will not highlight the option in gray. Just select OK on your remote. Please be sure your bluetooth device is ready to pair.

Select your device

Using the remote, select your device.

If you do not see your device, your bluetooth device is not in pairing or discovery mode.

VOLUME CONTROL

Verify that the volume is turned up.

To raise or lower the volume of your music, use the remote volume buttons shown below. You may have to press and hold the volume up button for approximately 5 seconds.

If you're still having volume issues after using the remote, please reach out to Technical Support. Email support@spectrio.com, or call 800-584-4653 Option #2.
